Projects to Attract your Future Workforce and Support Young People
Give an Hour	Give just an hour, or more, to inspire young people about their future career in schools and colleges in your local community. This could include activities such as conducting mock interviews, delivering presentations through to setting live project briefs, competitions, offering work experience and mentoring. Your unique industry knowledge and experience as someone who owns or works for a business can make a difference to the options a young person considers for their career.	Benefits: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Promote your business or sector to your future workforce Providing insight into your organisation, industry and the opportunities available in the local labour market Raising the profile of the company and providing prestige for your company Deepen your connection to the local community 	Register your interest to Give an Hour www.lancashireskillshub.co.uk/pledge-account/register/	Ongoing	None
Work Experience and Industry Placements	Are you able to offer a placement to a current college student? Colleges are looking for the support of business to offer a work placement where students can experience the world of work and learn more about sectors in which they aspire to work. One of the ways to offer placements is to get involved with colleges offering T Levels. T Levels are new technical courses studied from age 16-19. Students spend 20% of their time in the workplace learning real hands-on skills in their chosen route, so they are ready to join the workforce straight after their course. Businesses who have taken early T Level students on placement often recruit those young people after their course as they know them well and have benefited from their fresh approach and new skills.	Benefits: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Promote your business or sector to your future workforce Building a pipeline of new talent for your business Give opportunities to young people from a wide range of backgrounds, leading to a more diverse workforce Opportunity for new people to bring in new and imaginative ideas Developing existing staff's mentoring and management skills Providing extra resource for projects or your teams Building partnerships with local colleges Receiving financial support from a college for any kit expenses for the student's use (e.g. desk, laptop etc) 	Register your interest to Offer Work Experience and Industry Placements www.lancashireskillshub.co.uk/pledge-account/register/	Ongoing	https://www.tlevels.gov.uk/employers
